Course and programme syllabus

The programme syllabus governs a programme's objectives, structure, content and degree.

The course syllabus governs the learning objectives, content, examination, literature etc. of the respective course. It always specifies what prerequisites must be met to be eligible to register and take the course.

Always read through the course syllabus prior to each new course.

Examination

There are different types of examination, for example written exams, digital exams, written assignments and seminars.

The responsible course coordinator informs about how the course is assessed. This is also stated in the course syllabus.

If you received a passing grade you cannot retake the same examination in order to obtain a higher grade.

A top-down view of several students sitting around a wooden table, studying. They are looking at open books and papers. The students are wearing various casual clothing like plaid shirts, blue sweaters, and white blouses. The table is light-colored wood, and the background is slightly blurred, focusing on the students and their work.

Written classroom examination

It is compulsory to sign up for written exams (via Ladok)

Late sign-up is not possible.

A valid ID must be presented for a written classroom exam in order to have the right to write the examination.

The School of Business and Economics usually offers three examinations during one academic year. Thereafter, re-examination is referred to the next time the course is given.

Plan your studies – see Exam Schedule

A top-down view of a student with blonde hair in a ponytail, wearing a black sweater and a pink top, sitting at a wooden desk. She is looking down at a large sheet of paper. On the desk are several books, including a spiral-bound notebook with handwritten notes, a black notebook with a calendar, and a purple book. A watch is visible on her left wrist, and a bracelet on her right. The background shows more books and papers.

Failed examinations

- Can lead to you not fulfilling the prerequisites for the next course and cannot study further.
- May involve problems with Visa, the Swedish Migration Agency or CSN as they are required for study performance.
- Do not delay too long with re-examination as the course structure may change to the next academic year.

General grading criteria for the A-F scale at the School of Business and Economics

The grading scale is A-F (NOT ECTS). Your performance is measured in proportion to how well you have met the course objectives. All parts of the examination are relatable to specific learning objectives for the course. Some tasks have G/U (P/F).

Grade	Assessment	Your results are equivalent to one of the following criteria for each objective for the course
A	Excellent	Outstanding results with only a few minor shortcomings
B	Very good	Very good results with only a few shortcomings
C	Good	Generally good but with some shortcomings
D	Satisfactory	Acceptable level but there are several shortcomings
E	Sufficient	The results meet the minimum criteria
F_x	Insufficient	Groups performance closed to the threshold for E may perform assignments for extra credit to reach the grade of E. The examiner notifies the student in writing of the rules for submitting such extra credit assignments. The grade of F is assigned in anticipation of the extra credit , and the grade is changed to E if the extra credit is approved.
F	Insufficient	Significantly more work is required

Weighing up of grades for the whole course

All of the course's assessment tasks must be passed before the cumulative grade can be calculated.

The programme administrator performs the mathematical calculation using set principles.

The grade documentation is submitted to the examiner for a decision by signing the results list.

Grades are weighted when the programme administrator translates all assessment tasks graded for a course into figures in accordance to the table on the right.

A-F grading scale	Number scale for weighted average	A-F grading scale	Mathematical grade thresholds
A	9.0	A	8.51–9.00
B	8.0	B	7.51–8.50
C	7.0	C	6.76–7.50
D	6.5	D	6.26–6.75
E	6.0	E	6.0–6.25

Course X, 15 credits	Grade	Translation	Weighted average
Assessment task 1; exam 7.5 credits	B	8	$8 \cdot (7.5/15) = 4.0$
Assessment task 2; case 4.5 credits	C	7	$7 \cdot (4.5/15) = 2.1$
Assessment task 3; lab work 3 credits	D	6.5	$6.5 \cdot (3/15) = 1.3$
Total			7.4

Each assessment task is given the percentage weight that corresponds to the amount of credits it covers. As a result, the sample course gets a C, given that the average was 7.4.

Course evaluations

After each completed course – please fill out the course evaluation!

The course evaluation is your chance to influence, comment and contribute to good course quality

Apply for your programme courses
