Welcome to the International Social Sciences Program: Global Studies!

Congratulations! You have been accepted into the International Social Sciences Program (ISP) at Linnaeus University.

ISP has been a popular program for many years, thanks to the wide range of courses it offers and the diverse career paths our graduates have pursued. In the first year, you will follow a set of core courses that will prepare you for the later years, when you will specialize in a particular social science or language subject of your choice. You will also have opportunities to go on exchange abroad and undertake internships.

I extend my warmest welcome to you and look forward to working with you this autumn and beyond. In the meantime, here is some important information:

Once you have registered, you will have access to the student homepage (lnu.se/student), where you will find information about your courses, schedules, news, and more. The course page for the first semester is 1SH150, and there is also a program page that you will have access to throughout your studies. You can find your schedule on TimeEdit—accessible through the student homepage—by using the course code 1SH150. The schedule is usually available by mid-August, sometimes earlier.

The semester will start on 1st September with a program introduction meeting from 13:15 to 15:00 in Fe 1028. The meeting will also be listed on TimeEdit, and we will make an announcement on MyMoodle, the learning platform we use. This meeting is mandatory, and you will receive important information about the different components of the program as well as its overall structure. If you are unable to attend the introduction meeting, please contact me by email at Johan.Vaide@lnu.se.

Welcome once again!

Warm regards,
Johan Vaide
